

Feature-model size before and after reduction

Each point represents one successfully processed feature model. Points below the dashed line indicate removals; points

